The Xolo paradigm

While art has been here as long as man has walked the earth, technology is changing rapidly the way it can transcend frontiers of time and space, however, we believe that the human, social experiential element that makes art a valuable asset over time should never change, be it in the physical or digital world.

We believe that in the experimental era of Digital Art, it is important that there is a community willing to take NFTs, Games and Digital Arts in all its forms to its maximum splendor using proven experience and common sense, against the chaotic nature and volatility of this experimental era of the blockchain, where there are no rules and anything goes, ultimately allowing bad actors to take advantage.

Just as much as we like to go to a museum to see the masters, a hidden art gallery in a small street of a city to see the up and coming talents or spend our money in an auction made by a professional appraising house, Xolo wants to be the one to offer all these necessary values to the blockchain enthusiast, that by mere nature, we all want and need, to appreciate beautiful things, socialize and foremost to protect our investments.

By experiencing in an immersive way the art expressions before us and by having a digital community around it on our metaverse we will surely improve our experience and ultimately we will be promoting quality work that most likely will continue to appreciate over time, reducing risks for the investors and maximizing exposition for talented artists.

The Xolo Experience

In the Xolo world, you can build your avatar to represent who you are, you can choose from a set of characters, items and attributes that will transfer your essence into the metaverse, a key element for the social nature of our open world.

Choose from different guilds; artists, collectors, critics, punks, musicians, celebrities, degens and more to be announced.

Step into an innovative, immersive reality where collecting NFTs its just the tip of the iceberg, you will take part in the creation of a global tribe.

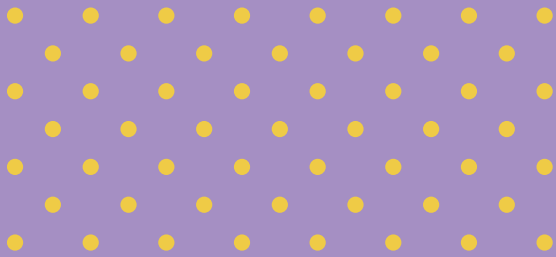

Even as we aim to build the most revolutionary, immersive and socially interactive metaverse art experience of the world, you cannot have anything extraordinary without the human interactive element.

Xolo will be the one to cross the border between digital and physical, our users, collaborators or the public, in general, will not only be able to benefit from an incredible digital interface to create, trade, or store their values, but we are also betting that the future of our technology is not isolated, the best of humankind has always come from physical contact, we believe in a “phygital” world, not just a virtual reality, that’s why we will create a XOLO experience gallery and foundation headquarters in one of the world’s most exciting cities, and the original home of XOLO, Mexico City.

Our artists, developers, guest speakers, corporate partners, celebrity endorers, scholars, exponents, and the general public alike will take part in special events like hackathons, workshops, parties, special auctions, and more to announce, a place to interact, create, trade and learn, we want to be the Guggenheim of the digital arts and Blockchain, socially governed and altruistic or nature.

Our Pledge

NFTs and Digital arts are here to stay, however, the growth has been so dramatic and in such a short amount of time that the first platforms dedicated to this segment have been struggling with user experience and quality of the products offered, siding with the quantity paradigm of things, we believe that having an interface that rewards good content, curated, regulated and governed by its users will result in the correct development of the technology, value and use case of the things being offered, benefiting all members of our metaverse.

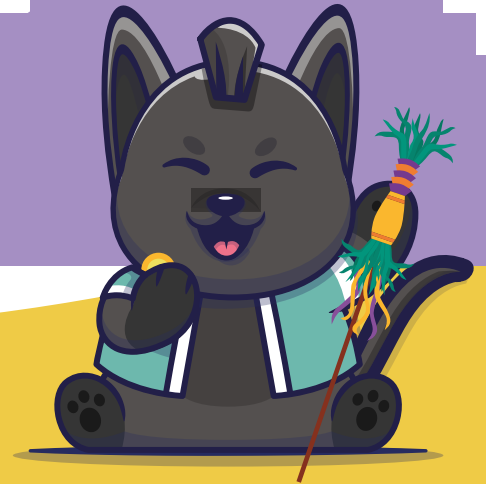

Innovation

The Xolo ecosystem likes to think of the new adopters, that's why we have partnered with a 3D hardware development company to produce and distribute an accessible hardware element that will allow you to transfer your real-life art pieces into our metaverse, this way, we will make the people that are not that experienced and even the experienced artists alike find an easy transition to upload high-quality work made in the physical world, securing higher value for their sales or purchases based on their real life expertise and experience, we believe we will be the largest art marketplace in crypto's history.

Our immersive universe will reward good content, we are aware that current platforms often get lost in a sea of content wherein all probability 90% of it will go to zero, as there is no backup of an artistic, experienced community behind it, Xolo platforms are all about connecting artists, traders, collectors and any user inside, curating the content and securing quality, not quantity, so our members have peace of mind.

We think generationally.

Our Team

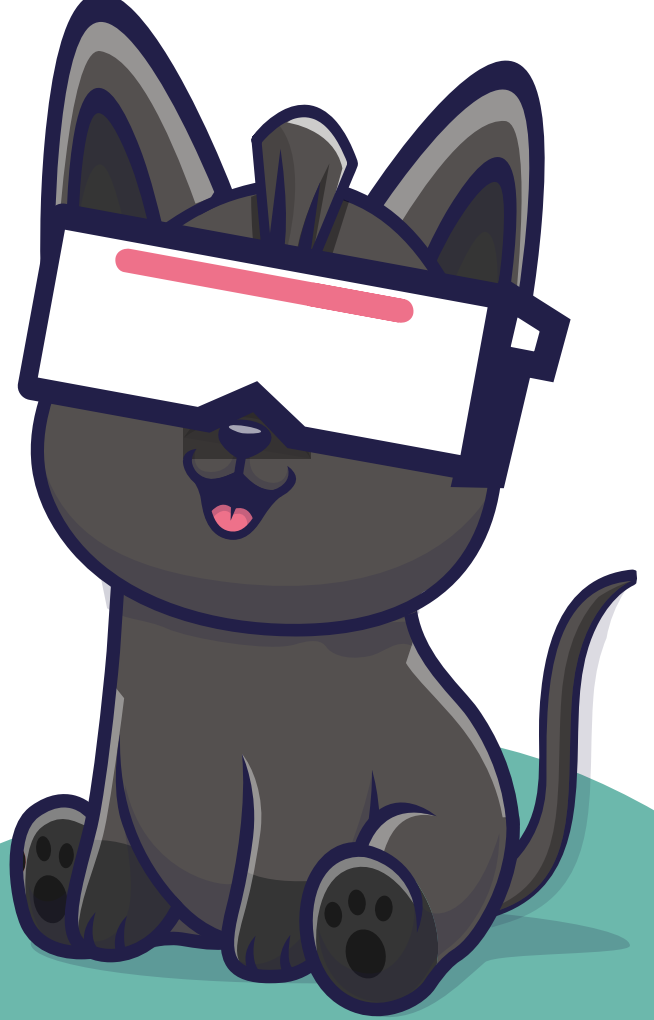

Our team comprehends a professional, vastly experienced group of people from multiple industries and different ethnical backgrounds, specially well versed in the arts, technology, and video game development industries, where we have incredibly talented people who have worked for projects such as Fortnite, Farcry, Star Wars, companies like Ubisoft, Electronic Arts, amongst others.

We all have in common a few things, we love dogs, we love communities and for some random reasons we have lived or had professional stays in Mexico, given the love of the crypto culture for dogs, we decided to name our ambitious project after a loved creature of one of our biggest inspirational figures, Frida Khalo. Xolotl was the name of a beautiful, legendary creature that accompanied her during the hardest moments of her life, if you pay attention, you will find him in several of her famous paintings.

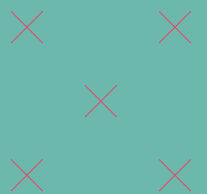

We hope that, by innovating new ways of marrying arts and technology, we are true to their spirit, brave and gifted.
